Our Mission, Vision and Values

Mission Statement: Who we are

The Cedar Rapids Public Library is a passionate advocate for literacy and lifelong learning.

Vision Statement: What we do

The Cedar Rapids Public Library exists to impact our community and transform its quality of life through education, civic engagement, the arts, and entertainment.

Cedar Rapids Public Library Values

Freedom: Our Library is committed to the free and open exchange of ideas.

He that would make his own liberty secure must guard even his enemy from oppression; for if he violates this duty he establishes a precedent that will reach to himself. -Thomas Paine

Community: Our Library is for everyone. You are welcome here.

There is not such a cradle of democracy upon the earth as the Free Public Library, this republic of letters, where neither rank, office, nor wealth receives the slightest consideration. -Andrew Carnegie

Creativity: Our Library is on a journey toward inspired products and relevant services.

And if you go in, should you turn left or right...or right-and-three-quarters? Or, maybe, not quite? Or go around back and sneak in from behind? Simple it's not, I'm afraid you will find, for a mind-maker-upper to make up his mind. -Dr. Seuss

Fun: Our Library is serious about art, entertainment, and recreational experiences that are essential in making life worth living.

I must study politics and war, that my sons may have the liberty to study mathematics and philosophy, natural history and naval architecture, in order to give their children a right to study painting, poetry, music, architecture, tapestry, and porcelain. -John Adams

Section 5. If neither the president nor the vice president is available to preside at a regularly scheduled meeting of the Board of Trustees, a chairperson of one of the board committees may preside.

In such cases of a tie vote, the president must cast the deciding vote.

Section 2. The bylaws may be amended by the majority vote of all members of the board provided a written notice of the proposed amendment shall have been mailed to all members at least five days prior to the meeting at which such action is proposed to be taken.

Library Bill of Rights

The American Library Association affirms that all libraries are forums for information and ideas, and that the following basic policies should guide their services.

1. Books and other library resources should be provided for the interest, information and enlightenment of all people of the community the library serves. Materials should not be excluded because of the origin, background, or views of those contributing to their creation.
2. Libraries should provide materials and information presenting all points of view on current and historical issues. Materials should not be proscribed or removed because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval.
3. Libraries should challenge censorship in the fulfilment of their responsibility to provide information and enlightenment.
4. Libraries should cooperate with all persons and groups concerned with resisting abridgment of free expression and free access to ideas.
5. A person's right to use a library should not be denied or abridged because of origin, age, background, or views.
6. Libraries which make exhibit spaces and meeting rooms available to the public they serve should make such facilities available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or groups requesting their use.

[Adopted June 18, 1948. Amended February 2, 1961, June 27, 1967, and January 23, 1980, inclusion of "age" reaffirmed January 23, 1996, by the ALA Council]

Freedom to Read

1. It is in the public interest for publishers and librarians to make available the widest diversity of views and expressions, including those which are unorthodox or unpopular with the majority.
2. Publishers, librarians and booksellers do not need to endorse every idea or presentation contained in the books they make available. It would conflict with the public interest for them to establish their own political, moral or aesthetic views as a standard for determining what books should be published or circulated.
3. It is contrary to the public interest for publishers or librarians to determine the acceptability of a book on the basis of the personal history or political affiliations of the author.
4. There is no place in our society for efforts to coerce the taste of others, to confine adults to the reading matter deemed suitable for adolescents, or to inhibit the efforts of writers to achieve artistic expression.
5. It is not in the public interest to force a reader to accept with any book the prejudgment of a label characterizing the book or author as subversive or dangerous.
6. It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians, as guardians of the people's freedom to read, to contest encroachments upon that freedom by individuals or groups seeking to impose their own standards or tastes upon the community at large.
7. It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians to give full meaning to the freedom to read by providing books that enrich the quality and diversity of thought and expression. By the exercise of this affirmative responsibility, they can demonstrate that the answer to a bad book is a good one, the answer to a bad idea is a good one.

Freedom to View

The FREEDOM TO VIEW, along with the freedom to speak, to hear, and to read, is protected by the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. In a free society, there is no place for censorship of any medium of expression. Therefore these principles are affirmed:

1. To provide the broadest access to film, video, and other audiovisual materials because they are a means for the communication of ideas. Liberty of circulation is essential to insure the constitutional guarantees of freedom of expression.
2. To protect the confidentiality of all individuals and institutions using film, video, and other audiovisual materials.
3. To provide film, video, and other audiovisual materials which represent a diversity of views and expression. Selection of a work does not constitute or imply agreement with or approval of the content.
4. To provide a diversity of viewpoints without the constraint of labelling or prejudging film, video, or other audiovisual materials on the basis of the moral, religious, or political beliefs of the producer or filmmaker or on the basis of controversial content.
5. To contest vigorously, by all lawful means, every encroachment upon the public's freedom to view.

[This statement was originally drafted by the Freedom to View Committee of the American Film and Video Association (formerly the Educational Film Library Association) and was adopted by the AFVA Board of Directors in February 1979. This statement was updated and approved by the AFVA Board of Directors in 1989.

Statement on Labelling
An Interpretation of the Library Bill of Rights

Labelling is the practice of describing or designating certain library materials by affixing a prejudicial label to them or segregating them by a prejudicial system. The American Library Association opposes this as a means of predisposing people's attitudes towards library materials for the following reasons:

1. Labelling is an attempt to prejudice attitudes and as such, it is a censor's tool.
2. Some find it easy and even proper according to their ethics, to establish criteria for judging publications as objectionable. However, injustice and ignorance rather than justice and enlightenment result from such practices, and the American Library Association opposes the establishment of such criteria.
3. Libraries do not advocate the ideas found in their collections. The presence of books and other resources in a library does not indicate an endorsement of their contents by the library.

[Based on a policy adopted July 13, 1951; amended June 25, 1971; July 1, 1981; June 26, 1990 by the ALA Council.]

Labels & Rating Systems

An Interpretation of the Library Bill of Rights

Libraries do not advocate the ideas found in their collections or in resources accessible through the library. The presence of books and other resources in a library does not indicate endorsement of their contents by the library. Likewise, the ability for library users to access electronic information using library computers does not indicate endorsement or approval of that information by the library.

Labels

Labels on library materials may be viewpoint-neutral directional aids that save the time of users, or they may be attempts to prejudice or discourage users or restrict their access to materials. When labeling is an attempt to prejudice attitudes, it is a censor's tool. The American Library Association opposes labeling as a means of predisposing people's attitudes toward library materials.

Prejudicial labels are designed to restrict access, based on a value judgment that the content, language or themes of the material, or the background or views of the creator(s) of the material, render it inappropriate or offensive for all or certain groups of users. The prejudicial label is used to warn, discourage or prohibit users or certain groups of users from accessing the material. Such labels may be used to remove materials from open shelves to restricted locations where access depends on staff intervention.

Viewpoint-neutral directional aids facilitate access by making it easier for users to locate materials. The materials are housed on open shelves and are equally accessible to all users, who may choose to consult or ignore the directional aids at their own discretion.

Directional aids can have the effect of prejudicial labels when their implementation becomes proscriptive rather than descriptive. When directional aids are used to forbid access or to suggest moral or doctrinal endorsement, the effect is the same as prejudicial labeling.

Rating Systems

A variety of organizations promulgate rating systems as a means of advising either their members or the general public concerning their opinions of the contents and suitability or appropriate age for use of certain books, films, recordings, Web sites, or other materials. The adoption, enforcement, or endorsement of any of these rating systems by the library violates the Library Bill of Rights. Adopting such systems into law may be unconstitutional. If such legislation is passed, the library should seek legal advice regarding the law's applicability to library operations.

Publishers, industry groups, and distributors sometimes add ratings to material or include them as part of their packaging. Librarians should not endorse such practices. However, removing or destroying such ratings—if placed there by, or with permission of, the copyright holder—could constitute expurgation (see Expurgation of Library Materials: An Interpretation of the Library Bill of Rights).

Some find it easy and even proper, according to their ethics, to establish criteria for judging materials as objectionable. However, injustice and ignorance, rather than justice and enlightenment, result from such practices. The American Library Association opposes any efforts that result in closing any path to knowledge.

Every trustee makes a personal commitment to contribute the time and energy to faithfully carry out his/her duties and responsibilities effectively and with absolute truth, honor and integrity.

- Trustees shall respect the opinions of their colleagues and not be critical or disrespectful when they disagree or oppose a viewpoint different than their own.
- Trustees shall comply with all the laws, rules and regulations that apply to them and to their library.
- Trustees, in fulfilling their responsibilities, shall not be swayed by partisan interests, public pressure or fear of criticism.
- Trustees shall not engage in discrimination of any kind and shall uphold library patrons' rights to privacy in the use of library resources.
- Trustees must distinguish clearly in their actions and statements between their personal philosophies and attitudes and those of the library, acknowledging and supporting the formal position of the Board even if they disagree.
- Trustees must respect the confidential nature of library business and not disclose such information to anyone. Trustees must also be aware of and in compliance with Freedom of Information laws
- Trustees must avoid situations in which personal interests might be served or financial benefits gained as a result of their position or access to privileged library information, for either themselves or others.

- Trustees shall not use their position to gain unwarranted privileges or advantages for themselves or others from the library or from those who do business with the library.
- Trustees shall not interfere with the management responsibilities of the director or the supervision of library staff.
- Trustees shall support the efforts of librarians in resisting censorship of library materials by groups or individuals.
- All authority is vested in the board when it meets in legal session and not with individual board members.

Collection Development

This policy functions as a general guide for the development of a robust collection that allows the Cedar Rapids Public Library to fulfil its mission to be passionate advocates for literacy and lifelong learning and to achieve the vision of impacting our community and transforming its quality of life through education, civic engagement, the arts, and entertainment.

SELECTION PHILOSOPHY

Materials for the library collection are chosen to serve the informational, educational, and recreational needs of the community. The primary goal of selection is to provide the best possible collection with the financial resources available and according to community standards. The decision to purchase any item for the collection is usually based on demand or anticipated need.

- Selection based on demand: We believe that the library patron is an important part of the selection process. An individual request from a patron for a title is usually honored if the request conforms to the guidelines outlined in this policy statement. The library has suggestion boxes at various locations and request forms at all public service desks. Suggestions regarding services and other aspects of library operations are also encouraged.
- Selection based on need: Some materials are chosen for the purpose of updating and developing specific subject areas. Materials added in this manner are selected from reviews, availability lists, vendors' catalogs, bibliographies, and local experts. The library staff is constantly gathering information concerning the needs of library users by means of surveys, circulation statistics, interlibrary loan requests, and patron input. Follow-up studies are conducted on those items or subject areas for which demand is constant.

The library strives to present materials representing all sides of an issue in a neutral, unbiased manner. The existence of a particular viewpoint in the collection is an expression of the library's policy of intellectual freedom, not an endorsement of that particular point of view. The library provides service to all within the framework of its rules and regulations and does not knowingly discriminate in its materials selection on the basis of race, creed, gender, occupation, or financial position.

The Cedar Rapids Public Library endorses the LIBRARY BILL OF RIGHTS, the STATEMENT ON LABELING, the LABELS AND RATING SYSTEMS, the FREEDOM TO READ STATEMENT and the FREEDOM TO VIEW STATEMENT of the American Library Association, which have been included in this manual and are intended to be part of this policy statement.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR MATERIALS SELECTION

The responsibility for materials selection and the development of the library collection rests with the director, who works under the authority of and in accordance with the policies of the Board of Trustees. The library Collection Development department carries out the actual selection of materials.

Materials may be available in a variety of formats. Factors governing the choice of format include anticipated use, storage requirements, ease of access, cost, and the format of earlier editions. When all other factors are equal, ease of access by the public should be the primary consideration.

SELECTION GUIDELINES

Collection Development staff use their training, knowledge and expertise along with the following general criteria to select materials for the collection:

- Relevance to interests and needs of the community
- Extent of publicity, critical review and current or anticipated demand
- Current or historical significance of the author or subject
- Local significance of the author or subject
- Relevance to the existing collection's strengths and weaknesses
- Reputation and qualifications of the author, publisher or producer, with preference generally given to titles vetted in the editing and publishing industry
- Suitability of format to library circulation and use
- Date of publication
- Price, availability and library materials budget

"Weeding" of the collection is an ongoing process directly related to collection development. Materials that are worn, damaged, outdated, duplicated, or no longer used may be removed from the collection. Other factors taken into consideration are frequency of use, community interest, and availability of other material on the subject. Materials removed from the collection are given to the Friends of the Library for book sales.

Gifts of books, periodicals, and other materials are encouraged with the understanding that they will be included in the collection only if they are in formats currently in use for the public and if they meet the criteria for selection outlined in this policy. Special interest materials representing particular organizations or points of view may be accepted and displayed as space permits. A few gift periodicals of more general interest may be handled as part of the regular periodical collection. The Collection Development Manager will decide where and how long gift periodicals will be kept. Each gift donor will sign a gift waiver to receive recognition and a receipt. For more information, see the separate policy statement "Gifts and Memorials."

Memorials are welcomed. If cash donations are made for materials in a person's name, it is helpful if a subject is also named so the funds will be expended appropriately. Direct donations of books or other materials are accepted under the provisions of the separate policy statement "Gifts and Memorials."

Minors are not restricted in the use of the library. Responsibility for the reading, viewing, and listening habits of minors rests with parents and legal guardians. Selection of materials is not restricted by the possibility that minors might obtain materials their parents consider inappropriate. The library does not discriminate on the basis of age in the use of its resources.

Reconsideration of Material

This policy functions as a procedure to be used by individuals or groups seeking a reconsideration of library materials held in the library collection.

Library customers may request books or other materials to be added to the collection. The Cedar Rapids Public Library Board of Trustees supports intellectual freedom and subscribes to the principles of the American Library Association Library Bill of Rights. The library staff applies the criteria described in the Library Bill of Rights and the Library's Collection Development Policy to provide books and materials that reflect the diversity of viewpoints within the community.

The board recognizes that individuals may question library materials that do not support their tastes and views. Library staff is available to discuss concerns, and identify options and alternate materials. If concerns are not satisfied through a discussion with staff, customers may request a formal reconsideration of library materials. Requests for reconsideration are first handled by the library's Collection Development Manager, then the Library Director and ultimately, the library's Board of Trustees.

The board has adopted a process for the formal reconsideration of library materials. This process ensures that questions about specific items in the collection are handled in a prompt and consistent manner.

The material in question will remain in the collection and available to patrons during the reconsideration process. Items the board deems appropriate for the collection will be not be removed except by court order.

Its purpose is to provide full and free access to information regarding alcohol, other drugs, problem gambling, violence prevention, co-occurring disorders, and related topics to all residents of Iowa. Materials selected to carry out the center's mission are chosen to meet the educational, professional, and informational needs of the state within the financial resources available.

Appropriateness: Appropriate materials are those that relate directly to any form of continuum of care for addiction of substances, problem gambling, or co-occurring disorders. Continuum of care includes prevention, intervention, treatment, and after care for Iowans prenatal through death.

Recommendations: Recommendations from the general public as well as professionals in the field are an important source of information about new items and are seriously considered in purchasing decisions.

Retention: Materials will be kept as long as they are timely and relevant. Weeding will be an ongoing procedure to eliminate outdated materials.

Formats: Materials will be collected in a variety of print and non-print formats according to the use intended and ease of access by the public. As formats become obsolete, they will be discarded in favor of more up-to-date formats.

Gifts and Memorials

The Cedar Rapids Public Library encourages individuals and organizations to support library services through gifts and memorials. The library will maintain an active development program through the Cedar Rapids Public Library Foundation, which will seek to identify potential benefactors. Assistance to individuals or organizations considering a gift or establishment of a bequest is available through the Foundation office.

Gift funds: Funds received from gifts, memorials, or bequests are directed to the Foundation. This ensures that donors are properly acknowledged and their wishes documented and adhered to; that funds are invested for the best possible return; that private contributions are distinguished from public funds; and that staff is utilized efficiently.

Real or Personal Property: Gifts and bequests of real or personal property are accepted only after the board of trustees for the Cedar Rapids Public Library, in consultation with the Cedar Rapids Public Library Foundation, have voted to accept the donation. All donations of this nature are accepted with the understanding that they may be used at the discretion of the library or disposed of for value when deemed necessary or desirable. The library Board of Trustees may elect to assign a gift or bequest of real or personal property to the Cedar Rapids Public Library Foundation.

Gifts or bequests of real estate, real property, or personal property are subject to appraisal, title search, and boundary surveys at the expense of the donor before the donation can be considered.

Works of art received as a bequest may be accepted by the library board of trustees, without a review by the Cedar Rapids Visual Arts Commission, under the terms and conditions outlined in the previous paragraph.

Prospective donations of art, either as a gift and/or a loan, must be reviewed by the Cedar Rapids Visual Arts Commission before the donation will be considered by the library Board of Trustees. Acceptance by the library Board of Trustees of such gifts of art will be made in consultation with the commission and will be based on the guidelines and criteria outlined in the Procedures and Guidelines for Gifts or Loans developed by the Commission. The donor is responsible for preparing any materials necessary for the review process. Once accepted, donations of this nature will be displayed in library facilities at the discretion of the library Board of Trustees.

Additional Guidelines: Gift waiver forms are available in the library administrative office for those desiring formal recognition of the gift or a receipt for tax purposes. In such instances, this form must be completed before final acceptance of real or personal property by the library Board of Trustees. The library is prohibited by state statute from appraising or assigning a value to gifts of real or personal property. Establishing the value of a gift is the responsibility of the donor which may include the donor paying for the cost related to obtaining an independent appraisal.

The library cannot assume responsibility for replacing damaged and/or stolen donations of art or equipment or worn or lost copies of materials donated as gifts nor for purchasing new or revised editions of titles that were donated as gifts.

It is generally the policy of the library not to accept special collections of books to be kept together as a separate physical entity. Donated materials are integrated into the general collection.

Bookplates, identification plaques, or other appropriate recognition identifying the donor or person being honored may be displayed on items acquired through funds received by bequests or gifts, subject to the approval of the director.

Other methods of recognition regarding gifts or donations will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis by the director.

Confidentiality of Library Records

It is the policy of the Cedar Rapids Public Library not to release information that would reveal the identity of a library patron who checked out or used certain materials or services or requested an item of information from the library.

No individual except authorized library staff shall have access to circulation or patron records other than his or her own without the cardholder's consent.

The library interprets possession of a card (or card number in a phone or email request) as consent to use it unless it has been reported lost or stolen, or there is reason to believe that consent has not been given.

Library accounts for which a bill has been sent may be revealed to parents or guardians of minor children, a collection agency, or law enforcement personnel.

Confidentiality extends to information sought or received and materials consulted, borrowed, or acquired and include Internet and electronic resource search records; reference interviews and transactions, circulation records, interlibrary loan records, and other personally identifiable uses of library materials, equipment or services.

Contact information for displays and meetings is provided by the user and considered public information.

Persons attending library programs or public meetings may be videotaped or photographed as an audience member. These images may be used for library programming or promotion, including broadcast on the library's website, the Internet, and other media.

The library cannot guarantee the confidentiality of information sought or received, or materials consulted or borrowed from third-party digital services to which we provide access.

At no time will the Library Director, who serves as custodian of the records, release protected records except if a request is submitted in writing and accompanied by an order from the court as outlined in Chapter 22.7 of the Iowa Code. Library staff will seek legal counsel from the City Attorney's Office in the event of such request for release of library records, and will respond to the request according to advice of counsel.

Unattended Children

The safety of children left alone in a library building is a serious concern of the library staff. The responsibility for the safety and behavior of children in the library rests with the parents and caregivers. It is the policy of the Board of Trustees to require that parents and caregivers take responsibility for and attend children under the age of ten.

The library has the ability to suspend this policy for specific programs and outreach opportunities where library staff accepts a greater responsibility to monitor the safety and well-being of children. This action requires the approval of the Library Director for these limited opportunities.

Fines and Fees

Our library holds freedom to be one of its core values and is committed to the free and open exchange of ideas. We balance this value with a sense of fair-play. A free society has at its foundation the notion that its citizens are accountable for their actions and make good on their responsibilities. Fines exist, first and foremost, to ensure the availability of and access to our materials. The library will charge fines on materials that are returned late or recover the cost of materials that are damaged or lost.

The library will also charge fees as an economic disincentive to waste or to recover the cost of certain, targeted services. On occasion, the library will charge for extraordinary or specialized services to raise revenue that supports foundational services.

Philanthropic Naming Policy

The naming of all library buildings and spaces associated with a construction, renovation or expansion project is the responsibility of the library Board of Trustees. Their consideration will be guided by the following criteria.

Cedar Rapids Public Library (CRPL) will consider naming part of the building, other property or interior space after an individual, foundation, organization or corporation in recognition of substantial financial gifts to the CRPL Foundation. Donors making such gifts may choose to memorialize someone other than themselves with the financial gift, subject to the library board of trustees' approval.

The CRPL Foundation will seek financial contributions commensurate with the honor sought and companionable with the mission of the library. Naming opportunities need not be cost reflective, rather they would provide prominent recognition of an entity's service or generosity to the library.

Facilities subject to the guidelines include:

- ✓ Library building or major renovation
- ✓ Interior spaces or service areas
- ✓ Outdoor spaces - gardens, courtyards, walkways, or plazas
- ✓ Amenities such as a fireplace, artwork
- ✓ Primary or specialty collections

Naming a library building as a whole will be considered by the library Board of Trustees on a case-by-case basis under extraordinary circumstances. Consideration will be made if a major donor contributes no less than 51% of the total cost of the project or 51% of a major renovation plus endowment support for the library in an amount approved by the library Board of Trustees in collaboration with the Library Foundation.

Interior and exterior spaces, collections, programs, amenities and fixtures may be offered to major donors contributing a substantial sum in response to a specific fundraising drive. Lists of potential naming opportunities will be developed by trustees in collaboration with the Library Foundation prior to a fundraising campaign, and presented to the library Board of Trustees for advanced approval.

DONOR RECOGNITION VERSUS PROPERTY NAMING

Donations received for equipping or furnishing a library area, that do not include the cost of building or renovating the space, can be given recognition through an appropriate plaque or alternative means within or adjacent to the space. This shall not constitute the "naming" of the space. When the equipment or furnishing becomes outdated, dysfunctional or is retired, the recognition will be withdrawn.

GENERAL GUIDELINES

- All naming recognition must be consistent with the nature and mission of the library. In this regard, due attention shall be given to both long-term and short-term appropriateness of naming.

- When a proposal involves the use of the name of any person, approval is contingent on the agreement of that person.
- When a proposal involves the use of the name of a deceased person, approval is contingent on the agreement of that person's next of kin.
- The library Board of Trustees reserves the right to change or remove the recognition should a significant change occur in the circumstances of the donor.

NAMING FORMAT

The Library Director, in consultation with the library design team, will be responsible for determining the manner in which the name is recognized (e.g. signage).

The Foundation will explain the library's naming policy to the donor, work with the donor to determine a suitable display based on policy guidelines and ask the donor to sign a naming agreement. Any commemoration technique must be consistent with the library's image and design requirements and is subject to review and approval by the library Board of Trustees.

DURATION AND CHANGE OF USE

When a change in the use of a previously named facility occurs because a program moves/ends or space is reassigned or demolished, some form of continuing recognition may be appropriate.

Property naming rights will remain in place for the useful life of the building or area, not to exceed a period of twenty-five (25) years. Renewal of naming right after the twenty-five year period will be reviewed and approved by the library Board of Trustees.

If a previously named facility or space within the facility must be replaced or substantially renovated during the twenty-five year period, the name will remain as set forth in any gift agreements related to the prior naming action.

If a previously named facility or property must be replaced or substantially renovated after the twenty-five year period, the library Board of Trustees will consider renewing the naming right either in a space similar or related to the original named area or in the creation of an alternative memorial, in order to preserve the history of commemoration.

Recognition of all donors is recorded and permanently maintained in library archival records. Gift agreements related to naming actions will be kept by the Foundation.

PROCEDURES

As a 501c3 non-profit, the Foundation is responsible for the planning and management of private fundraising drives in support of the library. If the Foundation wishes to offer naming opportunities as part of a capital campaign, the Foundation will work with the library director and building committee to identify signature areas for inclusion in the list. Giving levels associated with each naming opportunity will be recommended by the Foundation based on the campaign goal and number of gifts being requested at each giving level.

The library Board of Trustees will be asked to approve a list of naming opportunities associated with a campaign. Approval will enable the Foundation to offer listed naming opportunities to potential donors at agreed upon giving levels during the course of the campaign.

In general, donors will be recognized based on the agreed upon naming opportunity only after at least 75% of the pledge is fulfilled. Failure to fulfill a pledge in full will nullify the naming agreement. Gift recognition associated with individual campaign efforts will be subject to the campaign-specific gift acceptance policy.

I. PURPOSE

At the Cedar Rapids Public Library we value the support of an engaged volunteer community. We recognize that volunteers have the ability to enrich library services and enhance our library staff's ability to provide an outstanding library experience. We create meaningful, engaging, and enjoyable volunteer opportunities to build relationships with our community.

II. GENERAL POLICY

Volunteers provide important support to the Cedar Rapids Public Library staff and perform a wide variety of tasks that are critical to the mission of the library. Though vital, volunteers are not a replacement for a professionally trained and capable library staff. Volunteer positions are unpaid and "at will."

III. SPECIFIC APPLICATION

Volunteers perform a wide variety of duties. Volunteer positions are designed based on library needs and are filled based on matched volunteer interests and qualifications. The library is committed to providing a safe environment and, to that end, volunteers must complete a background screening process appropriate to their role.

Volunteers are recognized by the public as representatives of the library and portray a positive image to the public. Volunteers receive confidentiality training as it relates to their role and adhere to the library's confidentiality policy.

Support Group Fundraising

The Cedar Rapids Public Library Foundation and Friends of the Cedar Rapids Public Library are important groups that depend on gifts, donations, and fundraising as the primary source of income for the support of library programs and activities. The library Board of Trustees endorses and encourages those efforts. The intent of this policy is to recognize the foundation and the Friends as the only groups permitted to conduct fundraising activities on all library premises and to provide guidance for the use of those facilities.

Areas of the library to be used for Foundation and Friends fundraising purposes should be carefully chosen with consideration given to high visibility without interrupting traffic flow. Structures erected for these purposes must be portable and compatible with the design of the building. Signage used to direct potential customers or to promote the fundraising events should conform to established library signage practices and guidelines. The Library Director and the appropriate board committee will be consulted concerning plans for fundraising activities on library property.

Fundraising events held by the Foundation or the Friends, under the sponsorship of the library, are for the benefit of these nonprofit organizations and are not intended to represent competition with private enterprise. In the event of theft or damage to materials or structures used for fundraising, the library, its officers, and its employees will be held harmless.

The only exception to this policy will be those authors who sell books, CDs, or audiocassettes at the library on behalf of their publishers, bookstores or other distributors and who make a public appearance, talk, and/or have a book signing under the sponsorship of the library and its programming strategy. In these situations, proceeds from materials sales will not be directed to library support groups.

Professional Development

The Board of Trustees encourages active participation at professional meetings, conferences, workshops, and training sessions. First-rate libraries have staff and board members who challenge their assumptions and give back to the library profession. The Board of Trustees believes that it is necessary and fitting to reimburse reasonable expenses for select participants in keeping with the library's annual budget for travel and professional development priorities.

- 1) Travel: Lowest economical air fare and federal mileage reimbursement for ground travel.
- 2) Lodging: Cost for standard hotel within a reasonable distance from the event.
- 3) Meals: Per Diem costs in keeping with City policy.
- 4) Conference Registration

The Cedar Rapids Public Library Board of Trustees believes that continuing education of the library staff is an important part of our ability to provide quality service. We are committed to upgrading library services through additional education and training. The board endorses annual staff in-service training opportunities.

The board endorses the pursuit of professional library education through both stipends to defray the cost of education and release time.
